Secret Ballot Used At Town Meeting

The secret ballot was accepted at the special town meeting Monday night and used for the first time in the history of Andover in a vote on the $1,200,000 school article.

Introduced by John F. O'Connell, founder of the Andover Taxpayers' Assn., the proposal to use a printed ballot in voting on the article was put up to the meeting and passed by a rising vote of 730 to 468.

Mr. O'Connell had a little difficulty getting his proposal before the meeting. After Charles C. Kimball, first speaker of the evening,

Donors Give 223 Pints Of Blood

A very successful visit of the Red Cross bloodmobile last week resulted in total donations of 223 pints of blood, 111 Nov. 8 and 112 Nov. 9.

This large number of donations from residents of the town was due largely to the recruitment done by the local chapter's workers who made an extensive canvass here prior to the visit of the unit.

The donors who volunteered to give blood were:

James Adriance, Gertrude Allicon, Margaret Allen, Doris Anderson, June Anderson, Lyman Appleton, Anne Arnold, Mason Arnold, A. Graham Baldwin, Fred Baldwin, John Bane (Brother Anthony), Nancy Barnard, William Barrow, Bernice Bassett, Donald Bassett, Helen Batchelder, Albert Batchelder, Edith Batcheller, William Batchelder, Euclid Joseph Beaumont (Brother), G. Auto Insurance Rates Boosted

Compulsory automobile insurance rates for Andover will be increased from $18 to $18.50 next year according to the tentative rates just issued by the state department of insurance.

Methuen is scheduled for a hike of 80 cents to $25 while Lawrence will benefit by a drop of 60 cents to $28.50 and North Andover will pay only $15, which is $1.20 below the present rate.

Some of the larger cities will pay from $1.50 to $7.50 more. A decrease is proposed for 175 towns.

Union Service Thanksgiving Day

A Union Thanksgiving service will be held Thanksgiving day at 9 a. m., in the South church with the Rev. Frederick B. Noss, preaching the Thanksgiving sermon.

The service is sponsored by the Andover council of churches.

Voters Approve Plan Of Building Committee

One of the largest town meetings in recent years voted Monday night to adopt a secret ballot and then proceeded to:

1) Accept recommendations of the school building committee for two new elementary schools costing $1,200,000;

2) Defer action on a $10 increase in salaries of town employees until the town meeting next March;

3) Appropriated $900 for the civil defense program;

4) Defeated the move to rezone land on Lowell street to a private recreational area.

Under the school article an 18 basic class room building will be constructed in the center part of the town and a six room building in West Parish.

An amendment to change the West district school to "six or eight" rooms to include pupils of the Indian Ridge school, and to have the building located on Shawshen road near Lincoln street was defeated.

Action on the salary question was put over until next March on a motion that included the provision that a committee of three be appointed by the moderator other than elected officials of the town or town employees, to act with heads of town departments to make a survey of wages and report their findings and recommendations at that time.

The study is expected to show that instead of a flat increase for all employees there are some in the lower wage group who should be given larger increases than others.

With the auditorium and half the seats on the stage-gymnasium filled at 7.30 p. m., people were still streaming in at such a rate that there was a delay of several minutes in opening.

Before the meeting had gone very far practically all of the seats on the stage were filled and several people were standing. The check lists showed 1366 names checked off.

Poll Phone Users On Toll Charge

To obtain the opinion of a majority of Andover telephone users on the telephone company's proposal to eliminate the present toll charges on calls to and from Lawrence, J. Russell Dolan, manager, will conduct a survey of all local customers next week.

Mr. Dolan said the company will not complete its engineering plans for extended area service for this section until it is assured that a majority of local customers want it. He emphasized the importance to all local telephone users of a prompt and complete return to the survey which he will make.

The Rev. Frederick B. Noss of the South church opened the meeting with prayer and Chairman Roy E. Hardy of the board of selectmen led the meeting in the pledge to the flag.

Several non-voters were denied admittance when a few disgruntled "No" votes were heard on the motion to allow them in.

The first article was to see if the town would vote $1,200,000 for two new elementary schools, one of 12 to 18 basic rooms on Bartlet street, and one of six basic rooms in West Andover, $50,000 of which would be included in the 1951 tax levy, $75,000 taken from the post-war rehabilitation fund, $275,000 from available funds, and the balance of $800,000 to be obtained by a 15-year bond issue.

Charles C. Kimball, chairman of the school building committee, moved for adoption of the article as read. He said the school program was nothing new to the town and the population growth, now above the 1948 estimate, showed more school accommodations were needed in the center and west districts where it was most marked.

He said the old buildings do not lend themselves to remodeling, if remodeled they would still be old buildings which some years later would have to be done over again and that would be money "down the rat hole." He also said the town would not get state aid for remodeling old buildings.

If the school program was approved, he said, the state aid "which is money you have already paid in taxes" would be about $210,000. While some have suggested it is unwise to build at this time in a period of heavily rising costs, he said the problem of rising costs is not a temporary one and the problem is not going to be any simpler in 1952 than it is in 1950.

He said the plan of the school building committee is not that of any one man. It has been approved by the school committee, the finance committee and the directors of the Andover Taxpayers' Assn.

John M. MacKenzie proposed an amendment to strike out the words "six rooms" and insert "six or eight" basic rooms, in West Andover to be located on Shawsheen road near Lincoln street.

He proposed joining the Indian Ridge school with the West district and introduced figures to show that by closing the former there would be a saving to the town of $300,459 over a period of 15 years in teachers' salaries, improvements, janitor service, fuel, and other items.

John F. O'Connell here was allowed to introduce his motion for a secret ballot. It carried by a standing vote of 730 to 468.

In discussing the school question Mr. O'Connell said that the special meeting had been called to consider schools but that the warrant had been loaded with other articles. He felt that if all articles proposed for this meeting and next March went through in their entirety it would double the tax rate.

This remark was greeted with cries of dissent.

"I wish you wouldn't boo,"

DARLING, I WAS WRONG...

I thought that delicious egg nog had taken hours of work... but it turned out to be wonderful Hood's Egg Nog. Let's order our holiday supply today! Order from your Hood Route Salesman or your favorite store—or call ENTERPRISE 5713 said Mr. O'Connell. "Just stand up and answer me afterward."

He said he hoped the amendment would be voted down.

Mr. Hardy said he had been waiting for a long time to forecast the increase in expenses for the town in 1951. He felt that Mr. O'Connell had been over-enthusiastic in his estimate of the 1951 tax rate and introduced a number of figures to show there might be an increase of $221,000 in town expenses, or about $11 on the tax rate.

He felt that the voters could go anywhere from even (with last year's) to $11. He was in favor of going through with the schools on the original budget as the town can stand the $2.18 increase. He also said there were other possibilities which could force a raise of from $2 to $6 next year.

Mr. Kimball noted that the finance plan did not include the cost of constructing an 8-room school in West Andover.

The vote on the amendment was taken by secret ballot, the first in the history of the town, and lost 346 to 995.

When it came to vote on the motion to adopt the article calling for the $1,200,000 expenditure Mr. Kimball said that because of the bond issue involved it would require a two-thirds vote for passage.

The article was adopted by secret ballot, 1030 to 299.

Under the article calling for a $10 a week increase for all full-time employees of the town Mr. O'Connell's motion for a secret ballot on the final vote was carried by voice vote.

Atty. Fredric S. O'Brien, speaking for the petition, requested an amendment to the warrant but the moderator ruled that no one can amend the warrant, and Mr. O'Brien moved for adoption of the order as read.

He went on to say that since 1945 the prices of food, clothing, shelter and fuel have been greatly increased and that the proposed $10 weekly increase is no way near the rise in prices. He said that if the 193 employees of the town got the $10 increase it would amount to about $4.50 a year on the tax rate.

He felt that the $10 is not in excess of the amount that should be granted to the employees to reach the increase in the cost of living. While prices were rising 50% since 1945 town employees received an increase of only 15%.

Edmund E. Hammond said that while some street department employees have had what amounted to a 70% increase real estate owners have not had an increase in their rentals. He said the increase would cost roughly $5 a thousand on the tax rate "from here in" unless there is a crease in town expenses.

There had been only a time to study the proposal, felt that a special town meeting was not the place to discuss an increase but that it should be at the regular town meeting March when all wage appropriations are being made. He felt that action be deferred until March.

Mr. Hardy said he had made rough list of salary increases town employees have received since 1940 and they ranged from 15% to 100%. He listed police firemen 47%, schools 63%, laborers 80%, department heads town hall 67%, clerks 15 to 100%. He felt that a study should be made of the situation to arrive at a suitable solution.

Mr. Hammond's motion to take action and appoint a committee study wages was put to a vote and was carried 870 to 10.

Mr. Kimball made a motion have the moderator appoint a committee to carry out the wishes of the meeting (to make the two new schools). This was carried.

On motion of Henry S. Hoppa vote of thanks was extended to Mr. Kimball and his committee. The meeting adjourned at 11 p. m.

Andrew Innes has returned to home, 34 Canterbury st. from Lawrence General hospital.

YOUR NEW SOCIAL SECURITY

By H. L. LEIGHTON
Manager Lawrence Office

In my previous article, I described the social security law as your policy for old-age and survivors insurance and your social security card as the symbol of that policy. Perhaps you are among the millions now protected by this program. It may be that you are among the more than three million now receiving monthly insurance payments under this law. If you're among the latter, your September check, will show the increased payments given you under the newly amended social security law.

How much will your increase be? Well, to be fair to you and the other current beneficiaries serviced by the office, I would have to give 5500 answers to that question. There are that many people now getting old-age and survivors insurance payments in this area. Obviously, I can't be specific. We must ask you to be patient and wait until your September check reaches you in October. That check will tell you in dollars and cents just how much your benefit payments have been increased.

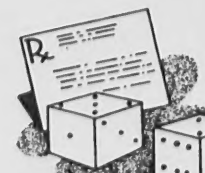

I do want to say, however, that increases range from about 50% for the highest benefit groups to about 100% for low benefit groups. For example—the average benefit of approximately $26 per month for a retired insured worker will be increased to about $46. If you are now getting $40 a month in payments as a retired worker your September check will be for about $64.

Family benefits will be increased also. For instance, the present maximum family benefit of $85 will be $150 under the new law. WASTED EFFORT

A man arrived home in the hours of the morning and, with a wholesome tear of his wife, decided to proceed with caution.

Taking off his boots, he noiselessly upstairs, stealthily opened the bedroom door, and, with the greatest care, crawled into bed. With a sigh of relief he went to sleep.

In the morning he looked for his wife, and suddenly remembered she had been staying with aunt for the past fortnight.

individually. The amounts of the increases will depend largely on the amount of the insured worker's enlarged benefit. In case will increased family benefit payments exceed eighty percent of his average month wage.

All of the increases I have mentioned apply to present beneficiaries. The new law makes it easier for workers to qualify for social security protection and become future beneficiaries under old-age and survivors insurance. In next article I shall discuss an important phase of your new social security.

EDITORIAL THOUGHTS

NEEDS REJUVENATION

Voters of Massachusetts returned the Democrats to the higher state offices for another two years and although they gave the administration on Beacon Hill a $54 million headache in new taxes for the aged to go with the victory they also handed the Republicans of the state another defeat to mull over.

Just how the needy will fare remains to be seen. It is possible that the constitutionality of the referendum petition will be challenged in the courts and that the aged will be left without their increase.

Meanwhile, party leaders will be studying the results of the election that gave Governor Dever a 243,000 vote margin of victory which also carried his entire slate with him.

The Democratic sweep was made largely through the vote rolled up in the cities of the commonwealth. Dever carried 33 of them, Coolidge six.

Commenting upon the Democratic victory the Boston Herald said: "If blame is to be placed it should fall in large measure upon the disorganized Republican party in Massachusetts — a party which still thinks in terms of good Yankee names, which overlooks youth and the very vital foreign elements of our population, but which most of all overlooks the basic necessity for down to the earth, grass roots organization."

THE INDEPENDENT VOTER

One thing that emerges from the battle of ballots just closed is the influence of that segment of our voting population represented by the independent voter.

While our primary system makes no provision for him to make his desires known prior to election, he emphatically asserts his presence when it comes to the final selection of candidates.

The party tag means little to him. Take the voting in Andover. One Republican got 5048 votes and another only 3608. No "party" vote there. On the other side one Democrat polled 2495 votes and another only 1049. Not much evidence of a "straight" ticket being voted there.

Apparently there is a growing number of voters who do not want to be tagged with either party label, especially for what they represent today.

VIEWS OF THE NEWS

By LEONARD F. JAMES

Many of us are asking ourselves why the Chinese have come into the Korean affair. For we feel that 60,000 Chinese troops are a little more than mere 'volunteers.' Two reasons have been widely discussed, but what may be the most important one tends to be overlooked. Two reasons are obvious. China fears the loss of the Yalu power plants just inside the Manchurian border. They supply a large proportion of electric power for Manchurian industry, and upon this much of the economy of China depends. The other obvious reason is that Russia would as soon hold us off, especially with Chinese troops, from the Korean-Manchurian border which is only 90 miles from her port of Vladivostok.

Perhaps most important of all is the third reason, little enough mentioned in our current news. If the Korean war ended too soon, a substantial force of battle-trained American troops would be released for the reinforcement of Europe. In Russia's league of international politics, the Korean fight is merely one aspect of a far greater objective.

Europe—Crossroads Of Foreign Policy

It is not too much to say that the cross-roads of our own foreign policy is in Europe, whatever may be the attention upon Korea. Europe is not unwarrantably afraid that domestic American politics have seriously underrated the nature of the Russian threat. It is one thing to use Far Eastern policy as a whip on the Administration, but it is something very different if critics lose their perspective. Our past policy in the Far East may be open to criticism. But such criticism must not blind us to ever-present danger in Western Europe.

It is argued by some that history is repeating itself, that the communist challenge today is precisely comparable to the Nazi challenge of a decade ago. However, we are in a better position today, it is claimed, because we are ready and able to resist aggression wherever it occurs. But the assumption does not stand up to the facts.

Russia Stronger Than Was Germany

It must be admitted that Europe practically asked for the last war by lifting no finger to stop German aggression in Austria and Czechoslovakia. The Germans were encouraged because the United States was merely an interested observer, and certainly isolationist in outlook. Today everyone is aware that aggression anywhere must be stopped before it spreads too far. The United States has more than proved its sincerity. But this present awareness of aggression must not delude us into believing that awareness itself is enough. We are dealing with a shrewd opponent who is in a far better position than was Germany.

Russian power has kept pace with our maturity. Russia has not only all the initial advantages that Nazi Germany had, it has many more. It is a solid land-bloc, compactly organized from Czechoslovakia to the Pacific. It touches upon nations all along that vast frontier, and it is able to strike out in practically any direction with vastly superior land forces. It has satellite nations that can work for it; it can tie up a disproportionate amount of western forces by using as its battleground the kind of terrain ideally suited for guerrilla fighters and decidedly unsuited to mechanized troops.

Korea—To Distract Us

Russia has shrewdly made its first major move in the Far East. She probably hopes to distract our attention there, expecting us to be fascinated with the size of China, its man-power; she probably hopes that the potential problem of other Far East areas may make us face that way and turn our backs on Europe. For Russia knows that the balance of real power is Western Europe. The world is divided today essentially between the United States and Russia. Neither can claim that it has preponderance over the other; neither could be certain of victory.

But between those two lies Western Europe, the extra weight that can turn the scales one way or the other. Western Europe may be comparatively exhausted, but it is by no means broken down. Its people have made a marvelous recovery, they are hard-working, they have technical skills, industrial equipment and resources. The Chinese may have twice the manpower—but they are comparatively unimportant because their know-how and technical developments are quite a way off in the future.

Europe—Balance For USA or USSR?

If Russia ever got control of Western Europe we would be committed to war to the death. As between Asia and Europe there is no question. The Europeans don't like communism, and they are prepared to resist it with our help. In Asia communism is attractive—and that we happen to be displeased is of little consequence. Asiatics are attracted by the twin appeals of nationalism and social reform. Those appeals have been astutely used by Russia against western governments, which have been so long resented in Asia. Thus the process of convincing the Asiatics that our brand of ideas suits their needs may be a long one. But in the meantime we suffer no irreparable loss because China is communist, or even if Formosa should fall to Mao. Any support we give Chiang Kai-shek cannot alter reality. Formosa is of no consequence whatever in comparison with Western Europe. Once Russia should get Europe then we would be outclassed in manpower, natural resources, even technical skills and industrial equipment.

Russia has never lost sight of that—because that is our Achilles' heel. The boys in the Kremlin know their business. Do we?

had finished discussing his motion to accept the school article, Mr. O'Connell asked for consideration of his proposal under Article 5 (to transact any other business that may legally come before the meeting.)

The moderator, Atty. Arthur Sweeney, ruled that Mr. O'Connell would first have to get the consent of somebody who had the floor and who would give up part of his time for the question.

A few minutes later John M. MacKenzie, speaking on his amendment to the school article, agreed to give up part of his time to Mr. O'Connell.

The latter then asked consideration of a motion that the moderator be requested to take the vote on Article 1, by printed ballot.

In a discussion that followed it was decided that the motion would include all votes taken on the article, including amendments.

Some objection was raised as to the time it would take but the moderator called for a standing vote and the motion was carried by standing vote.

The first ballot was taken on Mr. MacKenzie's amendment that the article be changed from six to "six to eight" rooms and be located on Shawsheen road near Lincoln street.

Town officials passed out printed ballots that Mr. O'Connell said had been prepared at his expense, and Mr. Sweeney explained how they were to be used.

The first vote, on acceptance of the amendment, was 346 yes and 995 no, a total of 1341 out of the 1366 voters who had been tallied on the check lists.

The next secret ballot came on the article itself. It took just under 10 minutes for the ballots to be collected and counted. The vote was 1030 in favor and 299 against.

The third secret ballot of the evening came on the salary question. The legality of the proposal was questioned and at this time Joseph E. O'Brien, one of the petitioners, announced that as far as the town employees were concerned it was agreeable to them to use the printed ballot.

When Moderator Sweeney put the question of using the secret ballot in voting on postponing the salary question it was accepted.

Ballots were again collected on the question of deferring the consideration of salaries until the next town meeting resulted in a vote of 870 in favor and 366 against.

Mr. O'Connell stated later in the meeting that under his plan ballots would be distributed to each voter as he was checked off on the check lists when entering the auditorium and thus save time of distributing them at future meetings. He also announced that a by-law to adopt a secret ballot at future meetings would be introduced at the town meeting next March.

How to make good coffee...every time

Here's an easy way to make good coffee every time—economically.

Have your coffeemaker scrupulously clean. Be sure your coffee is fresh, and the correct grind for your coffee pot. Always use freshly boiling water. Measure coffee and water carefully. The best rule is 2 level tablespoons of coffee to 1 measuring cup (or 1 ordinary cup) of water for each person.

Especially recommended for flavor are Eight O'Clock Circle, and Bokar Coffee... to you exclusively by A&P in the flavor-sealed bean "Custom Ground" to order, extra fresh. You'll make the tastiest coffee ever—and save money in the bargain!

The survey is to be conducted by mail with a letter to each customer, a folder describing the proposed extended service area plan and quoting the proposed rates, which are those now in effect in the Lawrence exchange, and a return post card for the convenience of customers in expressing their opinion. Mr. Dolan said that if each customer will return his card within a day or so of receiving it, it will greatly expedite the task of providing a service which he believes Andover customers have wanted for many years.

He pointed out again that the identity of the Andover exchange will be retained, that local telephones will continue to be identified with the name of the exchange, and that the Andover exchange will continue to function as at present. He said that with the cooperation of Andover customers, he will hope to have an expression of a majority opinion in Andover within a week or ten days.

Six of the senior boys will take the examinations Dec. 9, for N. R.O.T.C. appointments in various colleges. The candidates have been attending special classes for some time in English and Math, under Bernard M. Kellmurray and Mrs. Gertrude Hardy, in preparation for the tests.

Book Week

Since this week is National Book week, the library club of Punchard sponsored a movie assembly Monday. The first film, a color movie entitled "Choosing Books to Read", illustrated the proper manner of selecting books. The second, "Scotland—Background of Literature", depicted in beautiful color many scenic spots described in the works of Sir Walter Scott, Robert Burns, and other well-known Scottish writers. A number of the famous landmarks pictured were familiar to the students through their study of English literature.

Junior Class Meeting

The first junior class meeting of the year was held last Thursday, in which class president, Rae Hathaway introduced the other class officers who were elected last spring. They are as follows:

Alan Wilson, vice president; Barbara Hook, secretary; Dick Bramley, treasurer; and Betty Born, social committee chairman.

Miss Agnes Dugan, faculty advisor, explained the procedure in choosing and purchasing class rings. The class also discussed plans for the junior class dance which will be held Friday, Dec. 1.

Police Department Visitor

Roy Russell, representative of the local police force, visited Punchard last Wednesday, to speak to the civics classes concerning the work of the police department. Mr. Russell described the various methods of handling juvenile and adult delinquents, pointing out that juveniles are seldom punished as severely as the situation warrants. He also emphasized the fact that the whole purpose of police force is to protect the citizen.

Mr. Russell brought for inspection several of the special weapons used in controlling riots. This demonstration was of great interest to the students.

Notes

As representatives of the Punchard football team, which won the Methuen game Armistice day, co-captains Cliff Lawrence and Charlie Dwyer were awarded the V. F. W. gold football by Headmaster Harold Howe II, in Monday's assembly. This football is awarded annually by the V. F. W. to the winner of the Punchard-Methuen game. Congratulations, boys! You did a fine job Saturday.

Home Nursing Courses Open

"Winter is coming - so are colds - give your family the right nursing care to safeguard health," urges the home nursing committee of Andover chapter American Red Cross.

The committee is now prepared to offer courses in home nursing provided that a minimum of 12 persons register for each course. If enough registrations are received, classes will begin the week of Nov. 27, and will run for two two-hour class periods for three weeks, as follows: Section A., Monday and Friday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m., section B., Tuesday and Thursday, 7:30 to 9:30 p.m.

This schedule is tentative; some adjustments can be made to suit the needs of those desiring to take the course. Everyone wishing to register or to make inquiries about this program is cordially invited to call either Mrs. Malcolm Humphrey or Red Cross headquarters.

"It need hardly be pointed out," a statement from the committee says, "that sickness does not wait for winter; nor are colds the only home nursing problem. Homemakers
